Ethos

Hallfield School is a School founded on Christian Principles that admits pupils of all faiths and none. As a multicultural and multi-faith school, we aim to respect all faiths and cultural backgrounds and seek to build understanding and harmonious relationships between all members of our school community.

Definition

Fasting is the willing abstinence or reduction of some or all food, drink, or both, for a period of time.

Certain religions and philosophies practice fasting. Fasting can last for just a few hours or even a few weeks, usually with practitioners eating at night.

School Position

Hallfield School does not encourage any of its pupils to fast during the school day. Fasting ideally should be limited to school holidays and weekends when pupils remain under the close supervision of their parents.

Fasting generally applies to children who have reached puberty. IF a child in Year 5 or above has reached puberty and the child and parents wish the child to fast during term time, the school MUST be informed (Form Teacher) using the form attached and this decision will be reviewed on a case by case basis.

Safeguarding

If there are concerns about a child who is fasting, the school has an overriding safeguarding duty of care. If there are any signs of dehydration or exhaustion, the child will be advised to break the fast immediately by drinking some water and / or eating some food. Religious rulings allow the child to break their fast and make it up later. Parents will be informed if the school has any concerns about the child's welfare or if the child was encouraged to break their fast.
